

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF CLASS ACTION

A court authorized this notice. This is not a solicitation from a lawyer.

Do you have a child that:

- a) has Type 1 or Type 2 diabetes; and
- b) is now or will in the future be enrolled in New York City Department of Education public schools?

A Court has certified a class action in this case. Please read the Notice carefully.

TO: All students and parents of students with diabetes in need of diabetes-related care in school who are now or will be attending New York City Department of Education schools.

HISTORY OF THE CASE

- Three children with diabetes, by and through their parents, along with the American Diabetes Association (together, the “Plaintiffs”), have filed a lawsuit against New York City Department of Education seeking better care for children with diabetes in school. This lawsuit is called M.F., et al. v. New York City Department of Education, et al., Civil No. 18-CV-6109.
- Plaintiffs allege that New York City Department of Education schools violate Federal laws protecting people with disabilities, specifically diabetes, because schools:
 - Fail to schedule and hold meetings called Section 504 meetings, and draft and implement plans called Section 504 plans, that describe the diabetes-related care and accommodations that children with diabetes need to safely attend school and benefit from their education;
 - Fail to adequately train school nurses, paraprofessionals, aides, teachers, substitutes, and other staff on diabetes care to meet the needs of students with diabetes;
 - Unnecessarily segregate students with diabetes by making them leave the room and miss valuable instruction time to receive routine diabetes-related care;
 - Exclude students with diabetes from school and school-related activities like field trips, after school activities, and school breakfast by not providing necessary diabetes-related care.
- Find out more information about the lawsuit, including the Complaint.

- Find out more information about diabetes care in New York City public schools.
- Plaintiffs have received permission from this Court to represent all class members, meaning all students with Type 1 or Type 2 diabetes who are eligible for diabetes-related care in schools and are now or will be enrolled in New York City Department of Education schools, regarding systemic changes to the New York City Department of Education’s policies, practices, and procedures governing diabetes-related care and accommodations in school.
- The Court has not yet decided whether Defendants did anything wrong. Plaintiffs are not seeking any monetary damages from Defendants, nor will class members receive money as a result of any outcome in this lawsuit. Plaintiffs seek only that Defendants change their policies and practices.
- Plaintiffs seek system-wide change that will affect all students with diabetes whether or not individuals choose to participate in the lawsuit.

THERE IS NOTHING YOU NEED TO DO. This notice serves only to allow you the opportunity to monitor the lawsuit if you wish.

The Lawyers in the Case

1. Do I have a lawyer in this case?

The Court decided that Disability Rights Advocates, a non-profit law firm, would represent all Class Members as Class Counsel. Disability Rights Advocates is experienced in handling similar cases regarding disability rights. Find out more information about Disability Rights and its lawyers’ experience.

2. Should I get my own lawyer?

You do not need to hire your own lawyer because Disability Rights Advocates is working on your behalf. But if you want your own lawyer, you will have to pay that lawyer. You can ask him or her to appear in Court for you if you want someone other than Class Counsel to speak for you.

3. How will the lawyers be paid?

Class Counsel has been paid nothing for the services they have rendered in this case. In addition, they have advanced all of the expenses necessary to maintain the lawsuit. If the Class achieves benefits because of Class Counsel’s work, Class Counsel may ask Defendants to pay fees and expenses. You will not have to pay Class Counsel.
